DECLARATION OF CONSENT for a molecular genetic analysis pursuant to the German Genetic Diagnostics Act (GenDG)

Requested genetic analysis:

Molecular genetic characterisation of polymorphisms at position -889 of the human interleukin (IL-)1 α gene, at position +3953 of the human interleukin (IL-)1 β gene, at position +2018 of the human interleukin receptor antagonist gene (IL-1RN) and at position -308 of the human tumour necrosis factor α gene (TNF- α).

Information:

Determination of the genetically-related susceptibility to inflammation through the analysis of polymorphisms of the above genes enables the course of periodontal diseases to be forecast. Integration into a special therapy and prophylaxis concept enables the faster progression of periodontal apparatus destruction to be delayed in patients with a genetically-related increased susceptibility to inflammation.

I consent

- to the above analysis and sampling, have been informed about its importance by the physician providing my treatment, have understood this and have had sufficient time to reflect.
- to the sample being sent to a specialised, cooperating medical laboratory if necessary and to its being used for any necessary check of the result or further analyses for diagnosis.
- to the retention of the analysis results obtained beyond the specified period of 10 years following the determination of the findings.
- to the following physicians or institutions being notified of the findings: my initiating physician, other physicians providing treatment, and
- to the archiving and use of the analysis material for quality assurance.
- to my being informed about the result. I have been informed about my right not to know.

Please delete where not applicable. I can revoke each point of the declaration of consent at any time.

Genetic consultation

According to Section 10 of the German Genetic Diagnostics Act (GenDG) and Section 69 of the Austrian Genetic Engineering Act (GTG), we can offer you the option of a genetic consultation by qualified human genetics specialists on receipt of the test result (content of the consultation, see www.iai-test.de/service/genetischeberatung). You can mark this with a cross in the following. Please contact us at info@iai-test.de to arrange an appointment. Subsequently changing your appointment is possible before sending in the sample.

If you choose not to make use of this option, you expressly declare your waiver of the genetic consultation.

I would like a chargeable dental-genetic consultation (cost: €250.00).
